Eyeshield 21 is absolutely one of the best manga I've ever read. I recently got into it because I was previously worried if I would like it due to it being a sports manga. However, it's story is strong, it's football "action" is amazing, it has amazing characters that are instantly likeable, and I have to mention that it has some of the best artwork in the manga world. Even if you don't like sports manga, try it anyway. It has just as much action as some other shonen jump titles, and it is just an enjoyable thrill ride. Try it! Love it! Truly Excellent!

Okay, we get a continuation of the Death March and some nice inside scooping on the rival White Knights' training style. So, am I happy that Sena found a possible tight end for the team? Yes. Am I happy that Natsuhiko Taki is extremely annoying? NO! The guy doesn't even know the rules of football and is extremely vain and is always striking annoying poses. But he is good at what he does, and his hyper roller-blading sister Suzuna is very enthusiastic and cute. I loved seeing Sena's ghost move developing, and Yukimitsu's struggle to go on is very touching. But the best thing ever is Hiruma counting cards to win at blackjack . . . how DOES he do that stuff??

Book was in great condition and easy to read.
